

Wear Good Shoes and Wear 'Em Longer

Your good shoe costs a little more than a medium or poor one, but they generally wear twice as long. Therefore, you get almost double service from them. They fit better, look niftier and are always the most comfortable to wear. We can sell you any priced shoe you desire—the warranted shoe that we so strongly recommend, a medium shoe which will give you good service or one at less cost which yet is worth its price. Our aim is to fit all feet, meet all requirements and satisfy all customers. Everything to eat, wear and use.

TRIED TO FORCE WIFE ON RIVAL

Finally Sued for Heavy Damages, Alleging Alienation of Affections.

Trenton, N. J.—A remarkable love triangle in which the husband insisted that the "man in the case" either marry or give up forever the wife loved by each of them, was revealed in a $100,000 alienation suit filed here by Charles R. Chisholm of Newark, N. J., against William C. Parker, society man of Morristown, N. J.

One of the unusual features of the case, as set forth in the affidavits filed with the suit, was that the three principals held numerous conferences at which they discussed the "best way out" for all three. Chisholm says he discussed the situation with both, eventually giving to Parker this ultimatum: "Take her or leave her. You must do either one or the other or face a suit for alienation." Chisholm alleged that Parker refused to take Mrs. Chisholm, saying that he must first educate his sons.

"Take Her or Leave Her!"

The plaintiff sets forth that the infatuation of the couple had its inception in the summer of 1919, when the Chisholms and the Parkers occupied summer cottages at Culver's Lake, N. J. Chisholm says that he became firmly convinced that Parker really loved Mrs. Chisholm, and that, following a conference, Parker promised to see no more of Mrs. Chisholm. Parker broke his promise, and the alienation suit followed.

"WILD MAN" RIPS OFF WHEEL

Dashes Through Streets Dressed Only in Underwear and Is Finally Overpowered by Police.

New York.—Joseph Longobardi, thirty-one, of 64 McDougal street, was taken to Bellevue hospital for observation after he had raced through the streets for nearly a mile dressed only in his underclothing.

Hundreds of men and women on their way home from work saw Longobardi as he dashed through the streets from McDougal and Broome to Kenmare and Lafayette streets, where he was overpowered by three policemen and two detectives, flanked by half a dozen other men.

At Broome and Lafayette Longobardi tried to rip up a lamp post, and, failing, leaped at an automobile operated by Abraham Freundlich of 63 East Ninety-ninth street. Freundlich abandoned the machine, whereupon Longobardi broke the windows and windshield with his fists.

This did not seem to satisfy him so he leaped out of the machine, ran to the rear and by main strength tore one of the wheels off, badly twisting the axle in doing so.

Sun Heats Acid and Blast Injures Two Men

Berkeley, Cal.—Two men were badly burned when a sixty-gallon field drum of nitric acid, heated by the sun's rays, exploded in the Southern Pacific freight yards at Third street and University avenue. The two were standing beside the car upon which five drums were loaded. The force of the explosion was so great that both were knocked to the ground and the exploding drum was demolished and scattered in fragments over a radius of 100 yards. Peters and Medaglia were covered with the scalding acid.

Finda Wife Starved to Death.
Seattle.—Returning to his home here, after an absence of a month procuring a new home in Bremerton, Wash., John A. Holmes discovered his wife, Mrs. Annie Holmes, sixty-four years old, dead of starvation. There was no food in the house, although Holmes declared he left money for his wife to live on.

WOOL POOLS HELPING OUT THE IDAHO FLOCKMASTERS

BOISE, Idaho, Dec. 31.—Idaho farmers, for the most part owners of small flocks of sheep, pooled 2,131,000 pounds of wool in 1919 and 1920, says a biennial statement issued by the university extension division, based on reports from E. F. Rinehart, field animal husbandman, and R. H. Miller, sheep specialist. This pooling, says the extension division, "was a long step toward solution of the problem of the farm flockowner, who has found serious difficulty in getting his clip on the market in less than car-load lots. In 1919 609,000 pounds were marketed co-operatively at a gain of $48,720 over what the farmers would have received had they gone into the market individually. In 1920 some 1,522,000 pounds were pooled, more than half of it through the farm bureau or in organizations connected with them. Sixteen counties had wool pools. The most of the wool pooled in 1920 was consigned to reliable commission firms that do business on commission only. A small quantity of wool in the northern part of the state is still in the farmers' hands and 235,000 pounds have remained in the warehouses in the Boise valley awaiting a market. A few pools have received advances ranging as high as twenty-five cents a pound."

AROUND THE LOCAL CAMPS: PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE

Mutual Coal company has promised its stockholders shipments to the markets this month.

American Fuel company at Sego is working full six days a week with a good Northwest demand for its coal.

Henry C. Ward of Myton was the other day offered a lucrative position with the Union Pacific Coal company at Rock Springs, Wyo. He has declined it.

Most of the Carbon county properties are working five days a week. However, some of the smaller ones are going six. There is an increased demand for coal from many quarters.

G. W. Lindsey and Deputy Sheriff East were in Price on Tuesday last from Castle Gate. The mines there, they report, are working six days a week and the other properties of the Utah Fuel company going five and six days.

William Littlejohn, general superintendent of the Utah Fuel company, was in Price the forepart of the week. It may be a month or longer, he states, before Mine No. 2 at Sunnyside gets back to its output of before the fire.

John H. Tonkin, general manager of the Independent Coal and Coke company, had business at Price last Friday after an inspection of the properties at Kenilworth. They are working around five days a week with an increased demand for coal.

Utah concerns that retain the privilege of insuring their own employees will be compelled to put up a bond for twenty-five thousand dollars with the state industrial commission after February 1, 1921, according to a resolution passed by that body. Another resolution adopted changes the discount allowed for medical exclusion on coal mining rates of industrial insurance from 12 to 13 per cent. This applies also to self-insuring companies.

J. L. Finney, who left Myton some time ago to accept a position with the Union Pacific Coal company at Rock Springs, Wyo., has been promoted to traveling auditor. Himself and family do not expect to be gone from the Utah Basin permanently. In a recent letter he says: "Having been in the Basin during the pioneering period, I also wish to be with it when it comes into its own. It is my aim to own land near Myton before the great boom comes."

One petition for compensation was granted by the state industrial commission last Friday when an award of sixteen dollars a week for a hundred and fifty-seven weeks and eighteen dollars for one week was made to Mrs. Nellie Lorimer, whose son, Bernice, was killed while at work for the Liberty Fuel company at Lattuda, February 16, 1920. The mother was shown to be a partial dependent. A hundred and fifty dollars was also ordered paid the Liberty Fuel company by the insurance carrier, for funeral expenses advanced.

H. Foster Bain, recently announced as the new director for the United States bureau of mines, was formerly an operator in Colorado, and was well known among mining men in the Rocky Mountain region. He was manager of a gold and silver property at Idaho Springs from 1909 to 1915, and as such contributed special articles to mining journals. Subsequently he went to San Francisco, where for several years he was editor of the Mining and Scientific Press. Of late years he has been connected in various capacities with the United States bureau of mines in Washington, D. C.

As one of his last acts as state auditor, Joseph Ririe last Monday sent a letter to the state land board, explaining that he had caused the coal lands report, filed as a part of the governor's "hundred to one shot," to be compiled as a separate report. Ririe explains that the coal survey and report was made by E. T. Olson, formerly of Price, under the personal supervision of himself as state auditor, and that he did not want it confused or submerged by the other report. He also criticizes the fact that the report was printed at considerable expense when a few copies would have sufficed.

The pre-war coal output of Utah was exceeded by the Belgian miners during the month of October. The net extraction totaled 1,936,380 tons.
